Kubernetes: A container orchestration to run applications

Open source container management platform governed by the community

Allows you to run containers at scale – integrating networking, storage, and compute

Take advantage of open source tools that are designed to run on Kubernetes

Deploy Kubernetes applications

Separation of concerns

Platform team

I would like to standardize the deployment process for application teams while enforcing organizational standards

Development teams

I would like to have full control of my application and its dependencies deployment lifecycle
